Eden City
November 2009

In the heart of Eden, bounteous vegetation and wild animals guard a secret: a brilliant and vibrant city. The treasure of this legendary city has been long searched by explorers, following its depiction in several ancient ruins... Only insiders know the way to this city of light, with diamond paved streets and sparkling buildings, a city hidden from sight.

Behind a wall of vegetation, a door leads the way to the mysterious city of Eden, guarded by the serpent of the millennia.

edenly has passed through this door, and takes inspiration for its latest gold and diamond collection from its architecture, in honour of Eden City.

The serpent guards its door, and Eden hides its city, with its diamond-paved streets and tree-lined roofs. The wild and urban sit comfortably side by side; it is up to you to find the door...
